FUND LETTER DECEMBER 2025

In December, the Pentagon High Conviction Bond Fund (the "Fund") increased by 0.7%, versus a return of 0.9% for the ICE BofA Global High Yield Index. The ICE BofA Global High Yield Index is a market-value-weighted benchmark composed of below-investment-grade corporate bonds issued in major developed market currencies.

In 2025, the Fund has returned 7.8%, compared to 10.8% for the ICE BofA Global High Yield Index.

Since its inception, the Fund has returned over 187.8% in total, or 8.5% annually, which is way in excess of the 81.5% return of the ICE BofA Global High Yield Index.

According to Morningstar, the Fund is four-star rated out of 928 Global High-Yield Bond Funds. The Fund is in the top quartile for performance over the past five years.

Fund Positioning

We initiated a position in a global provider of mission-critical aviation services operating in a highly specialised, regulated niche market. The business is supported by long-duration government and emergency-response contracts alongside offshore infrastructure services, providing stable, predictable cash flows. With a modernising asset base, low leverage, strong liquidity and substantial hard-asset backing, the investment offers an attractive secured carry profile with limited downside risk.

We also added exposure in the bonds of a privately owned European healthcare company that owns and manages a diversified portfolio of well-established, off-patent branded medicines across more than 140 countries. The business is highly cash-generative, asset-light, and characterised by strong margins, minimal capital expenditure, and resilient, recurring demand across multiple therapeutic areas and geographies. With robust first-lien security, meaningful downside protection, and attractive yield for the underlying credit quality, the bonds offer compelling defensive carry with improving credit fundamentals.

Two bonds, one financial and one real estate bond, were called during the month. We expect to add back to these businesses in due course.

Fund credit quality remains BB+.

The fund remains overweight financials, retail, technology converts and cash.

As always, the Fund continues to invest where we see the most significant returns while minimising the risk of medium-term capital impairment.
