FUND LETTER JANUARY 2026

In January, the Pentagon High Conviction Bond Fund (the "Fund") increased by 0.5%, versus a return of 1.0% for the ICE BofA Global High Yield Index. The ICE BofA Global High Yield Index is a market-value-weighted benchmark composed of below-investment-grade corporate bonds issued in major developed market currencies.

Over the past 12 months, the Fund has returned 5.6%, compared to 10.5% for the ICE BofA Global High Yield Index.

Since its inception, the Fund has returned over 189.4% in total, or 8.5% annually, which is way in excess of the 83.2% return of the ICE BofA Global High Yield Index.

According to Morningstar, the Fund is three-star rated out of 912 Global High-Yield Bond Funds.

Fund Positioning

We also added exposure to the bonds of one of the world's largest physical commodity merchant traders, active across energy, metals, and bulk materials. The business generates substantial and diversified earnings through the movement, financing, storage, and hedging of essential commodities, supported by disciplined liquidity management. EBITDA generation has been consistently strong at c.USD 7-8 billion per annum, with low corporate leverage.

We added exposure to the bonds of a privately owned European industrial group operating in transport and offshore energy markets. The bonds are backed by first-priority security over a modern, high-specification offshore asset contracted to an investment-grade counterparty, providing strong visibility of cash flows and debt service coverage. The balance sheet is supported by substantial hard assets, offering meaningful collateral protection relative to debt outstanding. With conservative family ownership, disciplined financial management and high barriers to entry across its core businesses, the bonds provide attractive yield with limited downside risk.

One bond, in the communications sector, was called during the month. We expect to add back to this business in due course.

Fund credit quality remains BB+.

The fund remains overweight financials, retail, technology converts and cash.

As always, the Fund continues to invest where we see the most significant returns while minimising the risk of medium-term capital impairment.
