FUND LETTER APRIL 2025

In April, the Pentagon High Conviction Bond Fund (the “Fund”) decreased by 0.5%, versus a return of 0.0% for the Bloomberg USD Hedged Global High Yield Index. The Bloomberg USD Hedged Global High Yield Index is a multi-currency flagship measure of the global high-yield debt market. The index represents the US High Yield, the Pan-European High Yield, and Emerging Markets (EM) Hard Currency High Yield Indices.

Year to date, the Fund returned 1.4%, compared to 1.1% for the Bloomberg USD Hedged Global High Yield Index.

Since its inception, the Fund has returned over 170.8% in total, or 8.5% annually, which is way in excess of the 82.1% return of the Bloomberg USD Hedged Global High Yield Index.

According to Morningstar, the Fund is five-star rated and in the 3rd percentile of Global High-Yield Bond Funds out of 725 funds over the past five years.

Fund Positioning

Donald Trump's announcement of tariffs on 2 April certainly threw the cat amongst the pigeons. The tariff announcements were far larger in magnitude than even the most far-fetched estimates. In response, the fund very quickly sold down 13% of its holdings in order to protect fund performance. We cautiously added back as the month wore on and Trump increasingly rowed back with delays and exceptions, although we remain lower risk at the end of April than we had been coming into the month.

Duration is at 3.82 versus 4.08 in March versus 4.27 in February. Average credit quality remains BB+.

The fund remains overweight financials, retail, and technology converts.

As always, the Fund continues investing where we see the most significant return while minimising the risk of medium-term capital impairment.
